

"Every Month" For November.

In Every Month for November, under the title of "Marketing in Many Countries," the decline of the open air market in America, and the existing European popularity, is treated in a graphic and interesting manner, and is accompanied by a series of illustrations of the market-places of many lands. A timely sketch of "The Presidents of the Women's Clubs" contains information concerning the purpose of the best known Women's Clubs in New York, together with photographs of the representative heads of these associations. Always well selected for its dramatic situations, the page of illustrations from the "Plays of the Month" is especially so in the present number, embracing as it does photographs of "Becky Sharp" and "The Only Way"—the dramatizations of Thackeray's "Vanity Fair," and Dickens' "Tale of Two Cities." Two well-written short stories, "A White Woman" and from "Soul to Soul" supply the necessary fiction, and the usual Fashion and Floral departments, "November Novelties" and "Window Gardening" are both worth reading.

The regular feature of four pieces of music is always worthy of comment, and in this issue are unusually well chosen.

$100. $1.00 $1.00

(1) For this amount I will send you my book on "How School Lands, giving the full text of the law now in force, with tables showing the amount of school land in each county at the last official report, containing a page of useful information about these lands which you cannot get elsewhere.

(2) A complete list of each section of land recovered from the various railway companies and which was restored to the School Fund on August 26, 1899, none of which has yet been sold and all of which should go to the actual settler and not to the large stock man and speculator. This list comprises more than 100,000 acres.

(3) A list containing all the sections of land in every county in the State which was forfeited for non-payment of interest, on July 20, 1899, and which are now on the market. This list comprises over 700 sections scattered all over the State, some of which may be in your section of the State.

Heretofore the bulk of our public domain has been absorbed by the large speculator and the speculator, and that which is left ought to go to the settler who has no home and who will develop the country.

ROUNDUP SALES TESTED.

A Georgia Farmer got $1.35 per Bale more for Roundup than for Square Cotton.

Mr. James H. Camp, one of the most successful farmers of Floyd county, Georgia, asked recently by a reporter of the Roma Georgian what he thought of the American Cotton Company's Roundup bale, said: "The other day I put it to the severest possible test. I took cotton to Arnold's [square bale] gin in North Rome and the same day I carried some of the same lot of cotton to Hancock's Roundup gin in Rome. I sold both lots of cotton in Rome the same day and after every item of expense was charged against each, I cleared one dollar and twenty-five cents a bale more on the Roundup cotton."

The December number of The Designer is a credit to everyone concerned in its production. The many fashions and millinery designs illustrated in it are stylish, refined, and just what are needed for the outfitting of adults and juveniles. Evening waists in particular are most attractively set forth, also party costumes for boys and girls. Whoever has the pleasant task of dressing a doll for Christmas should certainly purchase this number, for in it the whole doll family is represented, from papa to the baby. Short and continued stories, a little comedy, "The Minister's Christmas Gifts," and poems will be enjoyed by all around the evening lamp. The Designer is just the kind of magazine to please the whole family, and its publishers have every reason to be proud of it in general and of this issue in particular.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others, Why Not You?

My wife has been using Chamberlain's Pain Balm, with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicines and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement and thought of trying it, which we did with the best of satisfaction. She has used only one bottle and her shoulder is almost well.—Adolph L. Miller, Manchester, N. H. For sale by all Druggists.
